Domiciliary and ■ management services

Every company needs a registered office where official documents can be served, in addition to one or more managing directors who are responsible for day-to-day management. TMF provides domiciliary and management services, making sure that all requirements are met and rules and regulations are complied with.

More than a shelter

TMF's domiciliary and management services gives you all the advantages of working with experienced and highly qualified people, who look after your interests best and ensure that you have one less thing to worry about.

Domiciliary and management services

Your registered office address and more

TMF's premises are available as a registered address for clients. We assume a wide range of responsibilities, such as ensuring proper registration with the local authorities, diligently processing all communications delivered to the registered address, keeping accurate books and records available for inspection at any time and much more.

Seeking high-quality office space?

TMF can provide high-quality office space and business premises with standard features and fittings, as well as furnishings that meet all business requirements. TMF can also introduce clients to reputable local property agents and assist them in setting up operations.

Your ears and eyes

TMF management services holds a pre-eminent position in providing its clients with highly qualified and experienced managing directors and proxy holders who can assume sole or joint responsibility for the day-to-day management of the local company. As the client's local representative, we ensure the entity's good standing in accordance with local requirements in liaison with the client's local advisers (tax, legal, and accounting).

Customized services at your convenience

In addition to providing day-to-day management, TMF can also facilitate temporary operational headquarters in countries where clients anticipate rapid international expansion. Clients who require the services of a managing director with specific skills or know-how need look no further: TMF has a network of seasoned professionals in different industries who can provide invaluable expertise.

Taking your specific individual needs into account, TMF is ready to provide a flexible, scalable solution that is ideally suited to you.
