FOREWORD FROM THE CEO

At TMF Group we pride ourselves on an unwavering commitment to the highest standards of conduct and ethics. This applies equally in all the jurisdictions in which we operate, and across all our services lines.

As CEO I know that I must lead by example and live up to our values which are underpinned by this Code of Conduct. But equally I expect the most junior colleagues to familiarize themselves with our policies, as a matter of priority, as soon as they join the company, and to remain mindful of what is expected of them throughout their time as TMF Group employees.

Our Code of Conduct demands a commitment to ethics and integrity in everything we do as a firm. We urge all our colleagues to dedicate themselves to upholding the values and standards embodied within.

In conclusion, I would like to thank each of you for the great work you do every day.

INTRODUCTION

Our brand and its underpinning values are at the core of everything we do; who we are, how we behave and how we relate to the outside world:

- ① we act with integrity and respect
- ① we are passionate in all we do
- ① we love excellence and are remarkable
- ① we embrace opportunity
- ① we build for a sustainable future.

As our commitment to and underpinning these values, this Code of Conduct sets out the most important standards and rules TMF Group (TMF Group B.V. and all its subsidiaries or entities directly or indirectly controlled by TMF Group B.V.) and its directors, officers and employees (together the 'employees') are expected to adhere to and the behaviour that TMF Group expects its employees to adopt.

This Code of Conduct is intended to serve as a basis. It cannot address every situation and it is not a substitute for common sense and good judgment, taking into account the best interest of TMF Group. More stringent local laws may apply additionally and of course need to be adhered to.

Further detailed directives may be contained in current and future organizational policies, available on TMF Group Policy Library page.

TMF Group and all its employees are bound to abide by this Code of Conduct. All employees must familiarize themselves with it. As far as the nature of each relationship permits, all principles and rules set out in this Code of Conduct shall apply to the relations TMF Group has with subcontractors, agents, consultants, contractors, interns and trainees.

This Code of Conduct is not static. Our operating environment, applicable laws and managerial best practices may change. This may lead to changes or additions to the Code of Conduct. These will be communicated in a timely and appropriate manner.

Any employee who detects or expects violations of this Code of Conduct or any other internal policy or directive should speak up. We expect employees to immediately make all pertinent facts known to local management. If an employee feels they are unable to escalate via their normal management escalation route, the findings may be reported under the Whistle-blower Policy.

TMF Group monitors compliance with this Code of Conduct and internal practice reviews, audits and electronic monitoring may be conducted from time to time in this respect.

When in doubt regarding any business conduct within TMF Group, do not hesitate to seek advice from Group Legal or Group Compliance.

If in doubt contact TMF Group Legal or Group Compliance.

TMF Group expressly prohibits any form of exploitation of insider information.

More concrete, the employee should in any event avoid:

- ① buying, selling or otherwise trading shares or other securities while being in possession of insider information,
- ① disclosing insider information about a company to any other person, including family members, friends or colleagues, where that information may be used by the other person to trade in the company's securities,

- ① providing access to insider information when it does not meet the strict need-to-know requirement.

In order to prevent any perception of possible insider trading from arising, an employee should avoid investing, shareholding or partnering in the business of a client which the employee is in anyway involved with or has knowledge about through the employee's position within TMF Group, unless through a fiduciary account arrangement. The employee shall also refrain from giving any specific instructions or otherwise influencing any decision to be taken under this fiduciary account arrangement.

At first request of TMF Group, an employee shall provide TMF Group with all relevant information with regard to the employee's investments in order for TMF Group to monitor compliance with the obligations as set out above.

Note that employees of TMF Group in certain roles can be considered an insider in relation to information of a client and additional rules may apply in such situation (for example, additional rules of the client).

1.6 Fighting corrupt practices

Employees shall not engage in money laundering or other corrupt practices and report unusual transactions

The term 'money laundering' refers to the process whereby individuals or entities try to conceal funds raised from illegal activity or make these funds look legitimate. TMF Group will not tolerate, facilitate or in any way support money laundering activities.

Every employee must adhere to the following principles:

- ① all clients of TMF Group must undergo a thorough Know Your Client (KYC) check through Group Compliance. No client may be contracted or served without explicit consent of Group Compliance in accordance with the relevant TMF Group internal compliance policies,
- ① TMF Group is obliged to establish its client's identity, the client's beneficial ownership and/or to determine the origin of clients' funds. If, at some subsequent stage in the relationship with the client, changes occur or doubts arise as to the correctness of the facts as initially stated by the client, the appropriate inquiries must be repeated and reported to local management. If necessary local management can inform Group Compliance and/or Group Legal,
- ① transactions which are unusual for a given client or in which the underlying economic circumstances are unclear must be examined in order to ascertain whether they should be characterized as an unusual or even unlawful transaction which are to be reported to local management, local compliance or Group Compliance. If necessary local management can inform Group Compliance and/or Group Legal and/or notified to the relevant authority (suspicious activity reporting),
- ① employees should be aware of the trade embargos that may be imposed on specific countries, either by the United Nations, the European Union, the United States of America or other countries. If a trade embargo applies, it means that it is either prohibited or restricted to trade with the country to which the trade embargo applies. In all cases where a trade embargo is imposed, it is prohibited to assist clients to conduct trade or to transact, either directly or indirectly, with the country under embargo. Any attempt to trade or transact with a country under embargo should be denied and notified to Group Compliance,
- ① employees should be aware of sanction regulations, imposed either by the United Nations, the European Union, the United States of America or otherwise, and act in accordance with such regulations. Any attempt to not comply with any sanction regulations should be denied and notified to Group Compliance,

- ④ employees may not participate or assist in any transfers which violate or aims at avoiding exchange control restrictions,
- ④ employees may not participate or provide any assistance to clients or otherwise to deceive any authorities such as tax authorities, for example by giving incomplete or misleading statements, and
- ④ the presence of employees at discussions between clients and third parties or the holding of discussions on TMF Group premises could be (mis)construed as an indication that TMF Group is in agreement with or even supports the actions of a certain party. Employees should distance themselves clearly and at an early stage, if they suspect or become aware that the matters discussed may give rise to corrupt practices and report this to local management as an incident.

1.7 Avoidance of conflict of interest

Conflict of interest must be avoided and in any event disclosed

Employees must avoid situations which give rise or may give rise to a conflict of interest between an employee and TMF Group, TMF Group and a client/third party or an employee and a client. In addition, the mere perception of a conflict of interest must be avoided.

TMF Group values the avoidance of a real conflict of interest as much as the avoidance of the mere perception of conflicts of interest. Perception can be just as damaging to TMF Group's reputation and that of the employee as any real conflict.

An employee faces a conflict of interest when the employee's personal relationships, interest in another venture or participation in external activities influences or could be perceived to influence the employee's decisions.

Examples of conflict of interest could be:

- ④ working in a second job,
- ④ providing consulting services, or
- ④ familial relationships with government officials.

Unless disclosed to and approved by the Group Chief Compliance Officer, employees are therefore for example prohibited to:

- ④ personally have a direct or indirect interest in investment opportunities that are within the scope of TMF Group's activity,
- ④ personally directly or indirectly participate as counterparty in a business transaction involving TMF Group or a client,
- ④ enter into a financial transaction, arrangement or relationship (including any indebtedness or guarantee) in which a related party has or may have a direct or indirect material interest without explicit and written consent of the Group Chief Compliance Officer,

- ④ hold a direct or indirect financial interest in any business or organization of a client or competitor of TMF Group, when the employee has the ability to influence the decision with respect to TMF Group's business (e.g. the client or competitor is owned, managed or controlled by a family member or close friend), and/or
- ④ have an outside business or other interests which interfere with the ability of the employee to perform the employee's duties for TMF Group.

Any work-related conduct that brings the employees, their family members or close friends any unauthorized personal benefit that would harm TMF Group or any of its stakeholders is prohibited.

Employees should realise that conflict of interests could arise when acting as director or in another fiduciary role for clients in general and especially when TMF Group also provides additional services, for example bookkeeping, to the client. If this is the case, please act in accordance with the relevant provisions in local law or articles of association. In any event disclose the conflict to the client.

If you think you may face a conflict of interest or that others could perceive an activity or relationship you are engaged in as conflict of interest, you must promptly disclose this to local management. Familial relationships with government officials should in any event be reported, to assess whether or not any mitigation steps are required in order to protect the employee, the employee's family member or TMF Group. If necessary, local management will inform Group Legal or Group Compliance.

1.8 Confidentiality

Information should be protected from undue disclosure and may only be accessed by authorised employees

All employees must observe the strictest confidentiality concerning all confidential information whether relating to TMF Group itself or to client relationships, which come to their attention during the course of their activities performed for TMF Group. TMF Group recognizes various levels of confidentiality, including Public, Internal, Confidential, Restricted. These classifications are further described and defined in TMF Group's Data Classification Policy.

Such confidential information includes all non-public information that is or may be harmful to TMF Group or its clients if disclosed, including business information that might benefit a competitor.

When in doubt on whether information is confidential, employees should consider information Restricted for internal information purposes and Confidential for client information purposes.

Even the mere fact that a client relationship with TMF Group exists should in principle be confidential, unless already public information or disclosure is permitted by the client.

Clean desks and clean screens are an important element in maintaining confidentiality.

Employees must ensure that all confidential information is locked away when not in use. Computer access must be blocked when left unattended by shutting down or locking the computer.

Information must solely be used for the purpose of exercising the employee's responsibilities on behalf of TMF Group. When dealing with classified information, any specific rules that apply must be observed at all times. Information classified as Confidential or Restricted may only be passed on to other employees or taken off TMF Group premises with written permission of the information owner or managing director.

Furthermore, any special regulations governing the safekeeping, storage and destruction of documents and data must be observed.

The obligation to safeguard confidential information continues after termination of employment with TMF Group. When employees leave the service of TMF Group they must surrender all information which came into their possession in the course of the employment relationship and which are either the property of TMF Group or its clients.

1.9 Protection of and access to information

Employees shall adhere to all measures taken by TMF Group to protect its information

Employees are given personal access credentials. Personal access credentials include at least a user-ID and password and may include additional credentials such as an access badge, token and smartcards. These credentials may not be shared with others, including colleagues, friends and family. Employees are assigned access rights based on requirements associated with their roles in the organization.

All non-personal information must be accessible by a superior and anyone requiring access to the information in line with their job responsibilities. Automatic forwarding of business email to a non-business email address is not allowed. Manual forwarding of emails to the employee's non-business email address is only allowed if approved by local management. Access to email on remote or mobile devices is only permitted if the device on which the email is to be received is configured by TMF Group IT in accordance with the security policies.
